

Learn the Native American Flute

► Developing Musical Style

Expand your playing skills on Native American flute and find your own musical style. Use extended technique and breath to develop a rich sound.

Tuesdays • Mar 29 - Apr 19, 2011
7:30-9:30pm

Location: Dallas Meditation Center

727 S. Floyd Rd, Richardson, TX 75080 (near 75 Central & Spring Valley)

Instructor: Cornell Kinderknecht

Cornell is an award-nominated World Flutes performing and recording artist as well as a teacher. In addition to his own solo albums, his work can be heard on numerous other artists' recordings across many genres. He has a private studio of flute students in Dallas and is in demand as a performer and presenter at music workshops around the US. With his expertise, he provides practical interactive instruction while his light-hearted approach puts students at ease. Cornell has twice been a Texas Music Awards nominee and currently serves on the Board of Directors of Earth Rhythms.

www.cornellk.com

A four-session intermediate course to build skills on this beautiful, haunting, meditative, exciting musical instrument.

- ◆ Tablature and rhythms
- ◆ Phrasing and tonal development
- ◆ Improvisation and composition
- ◆ Playing with ease and confidence

Open to students who have attended the earlier levels (1 & 2) of this series OR to others who have experience with the Native American flute (at ease with fingerings, scales, and use of breath)

Course fee: $95

 A pentatonic Native American flute is required for this course. If you need one, a high quality flute will be provided upon request for an additional $50.*

Advance registration for this class is requested.
Please register online by March 26 at:

www.cornellk.com